Boulevard Catering

Great for corporate or social events catering and meetings

Founded as the Boulevard Restaurant by Madeline Crouch and Stephen Maher in 1988. A family business with strong community ties, and pioneers from the start, Boulevard was the first restaurant in Victoria Park Village, London. The event catering followed from the restaurant and eventually outgrew it leading to Boulevard Events. After moving to commercial premises in 2000, the team haven't looked back.

Boulevard place an emphasis on the finest and freshest ingredients locally sourced and treated with respect; beautiful food, exquisitely presented.

Philipa Day

Philipa studied Fine Art and soon realised her love for flowers which led her to retrain and start her own business as an independent florist. In homage to all things sustainable, Philipa uses British flowers from March – October and has begun growing her own blooms. Philipa’s style is inspired by her love for colour and composition as found in an English garden - in each design you can feel her love affair with nature. From a studio space in Woodford, Essex, she provides flowers for weddings, events, homes and businesses across the UK.

Photographers – NEW for 2024

In recognition of a wonderful montage (see here) capturing the spirit of what a Museum of the Home wedding could be, we would like to recommend the below photographer.

Martin Makowski

Martin uses a documentary wedding portrait style which aims to capture the reality of your unique wedding day. It’s a storytelling way of shooting the event, with a strong focus on creating meaningful images that couples can emotionally relate to by placing more importance on the people, emotions and sensations at your celebration, rather than ‘weddingy things’.
